Commvault Is "More Than Ready" For Commvault GO 2019

May 15, 2019

Live from the stage of Commvault Ready, Commvault's Sales & Enablement Event, Commvault Announces that Registration to Commvault GO 2019 is now open!
Commvault GO 2019 will prepare business and IT leaders for whatever tomorrow brings, enabling them to be "More than Ready" to fight off ransomware attacks, migrate to the cloud, comply with new data privacy regulations and simplify comprehensive disaster data recovery

COMMVAULT READY, LAS VEGAS and TINTON FALLS, N.J., May 15, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Commvault (NASDAQ: CVLT) is "More than Ready" to solve customers' tough challenges; More than Ready to amplify our GO-to-market with industry-leading partners; and More than Ready for Commvault GO 2019 with today's launch of open registration for the only industry event dedicated to backup and recovery for companies of all sizes.

Business and IT leaders attending the event from Oct. 14-16, 2019 at the Gaylord Rockies in Denver, Colorado, can engage in hands-on training, dynamic presentations and interactive sessions that will help them secure the knowledge, tools, support, practice and confidence they need to be "More than Ready" to solve their enterprise's hardest data protection and management problems. Faced with ransomware attacks, cloud migrations, privacy audits, data disasters, rapidly changing technology demands and compliance requirements, their response will be simple -- "Bring it on." Attendees can register here.

"In the spirit of our 'More than Ready' theme for Commvault GO 2019, we are excited to cut the ribbon and open registration to the show from the stage at Commvault Ready, our Sales & Enablement Conference," said Sanjay Mirchandani, Commvault CEO. "Commvault GO 2019 has been designed from the ground up to prepare business leaders to face today's tough data challenges, with genius stuff that allows them to simplify data protection while also activating data for business value. We will show customers at Commvault GO 2019 how they can gain the peace of mind and readiness for whatever changes tomorrow might bring."

Redefining What It Means to Feel Ready in a Digital World
The fourth annual Commvault GO conference will feature thought-provoking presentations from industry luminaries, breakout sessions with Commvault customers and employees, and exhibition displays from Commvault's robust partner ecosystem. Attendees will gain insight into new technologies -- including AI-powered self-driving backup, automation, scale-out infrastructure and dynamic data indexing technologies -- to better protect and activate their data.

With access to leading experts, cutting-edge tools and practical guidance, attendees will leave prepared to action simple yet comprehensive data management and protection strategies designed for a world where change is constant, implications are immediate, and opportunities are boundless.

Register Now for Early-Bird Pricing and Discounted Training
Attendees who register before June 1, 2019, can take advantage of early-bird pricing for Commvault GO 2019. In addition, prior to the conference from Oct. 12-13th Commvault will offer exclusive discounted supplemental training and certification courses.
