

Media Alert: Commvault to Host Connections21, a Best-in-Class Data Services Event

September 27, 2021

TINTON FALLS, N.J., Sept. 27, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Commvault (NASDAQ: CVLT), a recognized global enterprise leader in Intelligent Data Services across on-premises, cloud, and SaaS environments, will host Commvault Connections21, a hybrid industry-leading data services event, for customers, partners, and industry experts across the globe on October 28, 2021.

- Who: Commvault
- What: Commvault Connections21
- When: October 28, 2021 for global event; November 11, 2021 for Asia Pacific Japan
- Where: Register at commvaultconnections21.com or commvaultconnectionsapi.com
- Why: IT professionals are contending with multigenerational data sprawl, massive fragmentation, new security threats, and economic inefficiencies — all exacerbated by exponential data growth. This creates a business integrity gap between where they are today and where they need to be. Commvault is helping organizations close this gap by simplifying the environment, managing the complexity, and leveraging insights from data to enable business growth.

Commvault CEO Sanjay Mirchandani, alongside other experts, customers, and partners, will explore the heart of the matter during Connections21: how to help IT professionals accelerate their cloud journeys and digital transformations while navigating today's evolving data challenges and relentless security threats.

Special guests and speakers include Dave Martin, Global Chief Security Officer of ADP, Stephen Orban, General Manager of AWS Marketplace & Control Service at AWS, and Chris Rein, Chief Technology Officer of the State of New Jersey. Laura Schwartz, professional speaker and author of Eat, Drink & Succeed, will emcee the event.

Connections21 will feature a variety of programming, including keynotes, technical sessions, demos, and networking events for attendees across the globe to connect with Commvault leaders, customers, partners, and industry pundits.

Get registered by visiting commvaultconnections21.com or commvaultconnectionsapi.com.
