

CommVault Wins 2009 Datamation Product of the Year Award

March 4, 2009

Readers Select CommVault Simpana as Best Network and Systems Management Product for 2009

OCEANPORT, N.J.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 4, 2009-- CommVault (NASDAQ: CVLT):

News Facts

- The CommVault® Simpana® software suite has been selected as the Datamation Product of the Year for 2009 in the network and systems management category.
- Winners of the awards were announced after several weeks of voting by readers of Datamation, with this year's contest experiencing the heaviest voting in recent years.
- CommVault Simpana software's unique, single platform approach eliminates the need for multiple point products, therefore reducing needless administrative overhead and operational inefficiency to deliver data management cost savings of up to 40 percent.
- Simpana software offers innovative features around global embedded software deduplication, virtualization, eDiscovery, snap management and remote office replication. Integrated into a single software solution, these features enable customers to reduce redundant data, protect data at the edge, mitigate the risks associated with data recovery, ensure broad application support and dramatically reduce backup windows; all while wringing out costs and driving efficiency throughout the enterprise.
- According to Datamation's James Maguire, the Simpana suite "... handles recovery management, virtual server protection and content organization. The depth of the software enables it to serve the needs of a globally distributed enterprise."

Supporting Quotes

"Customers today are looking for a comprehensive solution to handle the complexity and cost associated with data management," said David West, CommVault's vice president of marketing and business development. "This award validates our commitment to addressing customers' needs with a singular approach and product innovation built on our strength in unified and automated data and information management. We are thrilled that Simpana software continues to be recognized as an industry leader."
